DID YOU KNOW?
Americans ride on 2 million miles of paved roads of which 93% are asphalt.

DUMONT AND ROCK FALLS, two small cities located in North Central Iowa, were faced with deteriorating streets, some with drainage problems. Both opted for a Road Reclamation Project by Heartland Asphalt.

In each case, the old road material was ground up to provide the base for the 2-inch Hot Mix asphalt overlay. This process retains the cities' investment in the streets at very little extra cost, while providing a smooth new surface with a 20-year design life. As a bonus, this process can be completed in a timely manner with minimum traffic disruption.

The Dumont project reclaimed three blocks of city streets and the Rock Falls project 12 blocks. WHKS, of Mason City, was the engineer for the Dumont project. A total of 4300 tons of asphalt was laid at a cost of $230,000 for both projects.

"...Heartland Asphalt completed the project in a limited time period with minimum inconvenience to the public..."
