DID YOU KNOW?
Asphalt can have up to a 50 percent cost savings over concrete.

THE CITY OF IOWA FALLS decided in 1997 to reconstruct a section of Pierce Street with a concrete surface. The initial estimate came in at $473,000, and the project was put on hold.

Last Fall the city contacted Heartland Asphalt for an opinion on the project. With a joint effort by all concerned, Heartland was able to complete the project for $200,000. This included a complete reconstruction with culvert extension and a raised curb along each side of the street.

The existing asphalt from the street was reclaimed and injected with CSS1 oil. The street was topped with a 4-inch ACC overlay placed in two, 2-inch lifts.

Clapsaddle-Garber Associates, Inc. of Marshalltown, Iowa was the project engineer.

"...it all boils down to working with Heartland. They helped us save real money on the job..."
