DID YOU KNOW?
Asphalt is the most commonly used paving material for residential driveways.

MARVIN REDENIUS wanted a driveway that would enhance the entrance to his country home near Belmond, Iowa. He chose asphalt because it is aesthetically pleasing, and Heartland responded with the largest residential driveway in the company's history.

The curving drive winds around a lovely pond, connects the separate workshop to the brick home, and provides parking for guests.

Heartland placed a 4-inch hot mix asphalt mat, in two 2-inch lifts, over a compacted rolled stone base. The $50,000 project required 850 tons of hot mix asphalt, yet was completed in just five days: three days for preparation and two days for paving.

"...Heartland showed up early, paid attention to the details, and were neat and orderly..."
