Asphalt can be utilized to overlay many surfaces.

UNION MOUND CEMETERY in Sumner, Iowa, has grown through the years, and roads were needed in the newer section. The city turned to Heartland Asphalt for help.

Working with the Public Works Director, Heartland Asphalt designed a complete makeover. The plan included resurfacing the 1310 feet of seal coat roads in the older part of the cemetery with a 1-1/2 inch asphalt mat.

For the 720 feet of new construction, sod was removed, a three-inch rock base was placed and then surfaced with a two-inch asphalt mat. By tying the two sections together with asphalt surfacing, the cemetery now has hard surface, low maintenance roads with a pleasing, aesthetic appearance, at a cost of less than $15,000.

"...from the very first day on the job, Heartland did it right..."
